

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

A fault analyzing system presumes fault propagation paths for specifying nodes related to fault terminals once on plural time planes, and merges pieces of related fault terminal information representative of the fault terminals related to the nodes on different time planes in different manners so that plural list of plural kinds of fault are drawn up without repeating the time- consuming presumption.